VAHEGURU JI KA KHALSA VAHEGURU JI KI FATEH

A wonderful time was had at the weekend's Sikh Union Vaisakhi Mela event that took place on Sunday 19th June at the War Memorial Park in Coventry. Our thanks goes to Mrs P Kaur for helping to organise the event and Mrs Sanghera, Mrs Dosanjh, Mrs M Kaur, Mrs Bains, Miss Morris, Mrs Clay, Mr T Singh and Mrs Thandi for helping out on the stall on the day. It was great to see so many SEVA students and families out and about in the glorious sunshine. The activities certainly encouraged lots of visitors to our stall and interest in joining our school.

Our SEVA school Teddy was won by Dilraj in Year 4. The cake was won by a visitor to the stall who was not from our school.

Year 9 and 10 Dreadlock Alien Visit

Dreadlock Alien Inspires Students'

Acclaimed poet Laureate Richard Grant also known as Dreadlock Alien, attended Seva school to deliver a series of two- hour poetry workshops to year 9 and 10 pupils last week. His witty quips, beatboxing and freestyling kept the students entertained and engaged throughout the day. A great deal of appreciation was shown for the students as he had a talent for using the pupils' names to create free-style poems within a matter of seconds.

The focus of the day was the GCSE 'Love and Relationships' cluster of poetry that the students in years 9 and 10 had been studying. The workshop encouraged the students to use these poems as a spring-board to create their own poems.

The students worked in groups to write and perform 'word-burst' poems to begin the day, followed by solo writing challenges using couplet ladder frameworks based on their knowledge of poetic devices. The students were guided to use poetic devices and to engage in wordplay during this time.

The day ended with solo performances in which students were able to showcase their poems. Bursting with energy and enthusiasm all of the students (including the shy, retiring ones) performed with confidence in front of their peers and staff.

Dreadlock Alien also spoke about his experiences of growing up in 26 foster homes during his childhood, his bi-racial identity (Jamaican and Bengali Indian) and how he developed a love of poetry. He also explored the nuances of the term 'half caste' 'mixed race' and 'bi-racial,' alongside speaking about the history of slavery and indentured labour.

Thank you Ms Gabriel for organising this event.

Year 9 and 10 Dreadlock Alien Visit

It was a truly memorable day. Here are a few comments from students who attended the workshop:

“It was fun and interactive as we got to perform and create our own poems and it was interesting to see him freestyle in his poetry.”

“It helps give us an idea of how we can discover and figure out what the writer’s intentions were for writing the poem, as well as presenting how to write rhyming couplets.”

“He taught us how to beatbox and rap”

“It made me realise how many meanings a poem can have.”

“I liked the way he used rhyme when he introduced our names for the solo slam.”

The reviews given to us by pupils who attended were very positive and they thoroughly enjoyed the day. Well done for all your wonderful poems!

SHOWCASING STUDENT’S WORK

If love was a cruel poison, i’d be your antidote,
If love was a secret, i’d be your secret note,
If love was as beautiful as heaven, I’d be your angel,

If love was a Dominoes pizza,
I’d be your delivery driver.

(Sukhraj, year 10)

If love was a tree, i’d be your CO₂,
If love was a bank, I’d be your cheque,
If love was a movie, I’d be your star.
(Julia, year 10)

My love for you could fill the ocean
The depth of your tranquillity
fulfils my emotions
I would travel across the whole Earth
To be with you for what it’s worth.
My passion for you could warm the sea
As we read the star’s philosophy.
Everything about you is so divine.
I am ecstatic to be able to call you mine.
(Eesharpreet, year 10)

I think it’s best we parted
It’s gone on for so long, I forgot how it started.
Every time I saw you, I saw hidden tears
Which had lasted many years.
We built our bridges when we kissed
But we were always hit and miss.
Now everything we have done is broken
Everything we did, everything that was spoken.
You’re not the wonder woman I first met
And your super powers tell me, this is something I won’t forget.
Now I sulk every day in the morning
Just because we didn’t see the warning. (Joshua, year 10)

Year 2 Jobs in our Local Area

As part of our learning about jobs in the local area, Mrs Benning visited Y2 to talk about her job. Mrs Benning is on the team that cooks our delicious lunches. We asked her lots of questions and found out interesting facts like it takes 3 hours to cook the food every day and that on Thursdays, they make 125 pizzas! Some of the children were surprised to learn that the team in the kitchen also had to do the washing up!

Thank you Mrs Benning for coming to speak to us.
